Liability Disclaimer and Terms

MoBo's is in no way liable for the reliability or condition of any equipment purchased via our web forum. The sole intent of the web forum is to provide a means for our customers to create transactions with other MoBo's customers. MoBo's shall have neither liability or responsibility to any person or entity in regard to equipment purchased via the web forum and in no way offers warranty, exchange, or refund for purchases made via the web forum. All sales are final and non-negotiable.

The MoBo's web forum is a demonstration of our mission to be resourceful for our customers. Customers may use the forum to sell old equipment after upgrading to new equipment, and others may need to purchase the used equipment if their own is lost, stolen, or damaged in some way.

Terms of the web forum are as follow.

- 1.) Forum exchanges are to take place through our store. Once this form is completed the selling customer will leave the equipment with MoBo's for a period not to exceed 45 days. MoBo's will notify customers of sale status via the Web Forum by indicating it has been sold. MoBo's will also notify the selling customer via the contact number listed on this form. The selling customer will be required to pick unsold equipment within 90 days of agreement initiation, or it will remain the property of MoBo's. In some cases MoBo's may offer to purchase the equipment if no other offers have been made after 90 days. This offer will not exceed $15.00 on most handsets.
- 2.) The purchasing customer must pay CASH for used equipment and will receive a non-negotiable receipt for their purchase. Again, all sales are final and non-negotiable.
- 3.) MoBo's will then issue a check or cash to the selling customer less our $15.00 Transaction charge.

We hope that you will enjoy using our used equipment forum, and that it will become a resource for both phone seekers and phone sellers. Your signature below indicates you have read and agree to the terms stated herein.
